COATS OF ARMS IN ESSEX CHURCHES.

No. IX.

CLAVERING HUNDRED.—No. II.

Farnham.—Langley.—Mauden.—Ugley.

Farnham.—This church is now being rebuilt in a costly style by Joseph Clarke, Esq., diocesan architect, at the expense of the rector and landowners of the parish. The following list of arms was taken a few months prior to the demolition of the old church. The former church consisted of chancel, nave, south porch, and west tower. The fabric was probably Norman, but the font was the only tangible evidence of the fact. The general appearance of the church was Perpendicular, of rather late date. The south porch was of considerable merit: its loss is to be regretted, as it was the best of a series of panelled stone porches, evidently by the same hand; the remaining ones being at Clavering, Little Chis-hall, and Anstey. Arms:—

1. On a monument to Henry Lilley, Esq., Rouge Dragon, 1698, Gu., 3 lilies slipped arg., 2, 1.

2. On a monument to Nathaniel Geering, Rector, Gu., 2 bars or, on each 3 mascles of the field, on a canton sab. a lion's face or. Crest, an antelope's head erased, quarterly, arg., sab., thereon four mascles counterchanged, attired or.

1. Waade, Az., a saltire between four escallops or. Crest, a rhinoceros passant gu., tusked, &c., or.
