

grieve at the heedlessness of the Egyptian Government in allowing the desecration of this unique country, of those Nile attractions that are now so widely advertised in Europe."

---

THE GREAT INDIAN RHINOCEROS.—Can any of your readers give me any information on the following? I am very anxious to endeavour to obtain a specimen for my big game museum in Oxford of the great Indian rhinoceros, now found, I believe, only in preserved areas in the valley of the Brahmaputra in Assam. (1) From whom can I obtain permission to shoot one? (2) From which place in Assam should I start? (3) What districts in Burma are good for elephant, rhino, tiger, buffalo?—
C. V. A. PEEL (12, Woodstock-road, Oxford).

---

---