

THE MARRIAGE OF A FAMOUS SPORTSMAN.

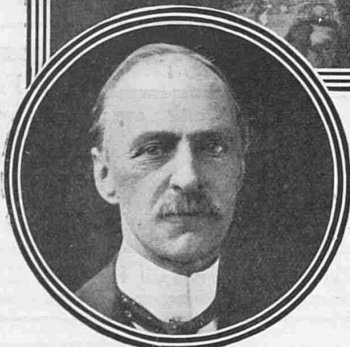

THE SALOON OF BRANDESBURTON HALL—THE HOME OF MANY TROPHIES

This fine apartment is a veritable museum—a magnificent pair of tusks, 110 lb. each, adorn one mantel, while a fine pair of cow elephant's tusks, 36 lb., grace the other. Some fifty cases of rare animals and birds are grouped round the room, with fine heads above; rare Indian rugs presented by Indian friends are covered with equally rare skins—to mention a few only are the okapi, white rhino, bongo, Congo bush buffalo, giant pig, Harrison's antelope, lions, leopards, tigers; and there are lovely china and embroideries

THE FRONT HALL OF BRANDESBURTON

Here are to be seen innumerable trophies of Mr. Harrison's prowess as a hunter of big game

MR. J. J. HARRISON

Of Brandesburton Hall, the famous sportsman and hunter, who is marrying Mrs. Sumner Clarke on Saturday next

MRS. SUMNER CLARKE

Of Illinois, whose marriage to Mr. J. J. Harrison is announced to take place on Saturday next, the 19th inst.

Mr. Harrison of Brandesburton Hall, two views of which are given above, after leaving Harrow and Oxford settled down to cricket, hunting, and shooting in England until he took a trip in 1886 to the Brazils and South America. Since then he has become known as one of the most enthusiastic big-game hunters; his collection of heads, skins, birds, small mammals, and curios is said to be unique. India, Ceylon, North and South America, Canada, China, Japan, South Africa, Beira, and Portuguese East Africa, Uganda, and Abyssinia have all been visited in turn, besides trips in the Congo. Mr. Harrison was for many years an officer in the Yorkshire Hussars
