

Image © THE BRITISH LIBRARY BOARD. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.

about a year before the troubles arose in China. He was then brigadier-general commanding on the station. He has since proved his worth by his service in the field, and was recently appointed to the Second Class Order of the Bath.

General and Mrs. Plowden are leaving England for India, where the General resumes his command from leave. Colonel O'Connell, R.A.M.C., is ordered home from India to take up duty at a home station as P.M.O. on promotion. Captain Baker Carr, Rifle Brigade, returns to India from England to resume duty as A.D.C. to Lord Curzon, and Lady Curzon leaves for there the end of the month to join the Viceroy.

Some weeks ago it will be remembered a telegram