A SHOOTING PARTY.

The Marquis de Baetmel and his brother Count Goston, accompanied by Mr. Ridgeway, an American gentleman, have had excellent shooting in North Kamrup during the past two months, and are expected at Gauhati on the 1st proximo.

The party have had some stirring adventures. One of their howdahs was smashed completely in tree jungle, into which the elephant which carried it was chased by a wild rogue elephant. Fortunately no other damage was done. We regret to hear that a native shikarri in the service of the party was killed by a bull bison. The event was brought about entirely by the man's own rashness and disobedience of orders. The Marquis has, we are told, liberally provided for the man's family.

The Marquis is a keen sportsman, and well deserves the success which has attended his expedition. The bag made, we are informed, includes several tigers, rhinoceros, buffaloes, and other big game, besides a rogue elephant.
